BRITAIN PUTS MAGNA CHARTA IN U. S. CARE

Document To Receive Same Care Given U. S. Constitution

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The eleventh Marquess of Lothian today tucked England's magna charta under a wing [illegible] and headed for the Library of Congress to deposit the priceless paper for safe keeping during the European war.

Archibald MacLeish, the librarian, immediately announced the document would have the same 24-hour armed guard as that given the constitution and the declaration of independence, near which it will be displayed.

Thus three of the leading documents of democracy are being brought together for the first time.

The marquess, who is Lord Lothian, the British ambassador to the United States, arranged informal ceremonies for transfer of the magna charta. High government officials were invited.

Historians noted the ceremonies and pointed out that time happily changes all things.

Less than 130 years ago, British soldiers in the War of 1812 held a different kind of ceremony on the same Capitol Hill. They marched up its green slopes, scattered the young nation's papers and set fire in the capitol.

This magna charta is one of four—all the same in wording—which were executed at Runnymede in 1215. The document, drawn up by English barons, limited the powers of the king. King John gave his approval, but didn't sign any of the papers for a very good reason—he couldn't write.

Two of the other magna chartas are in the British museum and the third is in Salisbury (England) cathedral.

NEW 'SOLUTION' FOR DESTROYING MINES OFFERED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Here's a new "solution" for Great Britain's troubles with German mines.

The Times-Picayune said a fisherman wrote that King George should get 500 of Louisiana's biggest alligator gars.

The letter writer suggested that steel bands be put around the gars and that they be liberated in areas suspected of being mined.

The gar runs into a mine and explodes it, thus saving everyone except the gar.

Executive Says Christenberry Never Drew Dime In That Capacity

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 28.—(AP)—The appointment of Walton Cockerham, for five years on the state police force, as secretary to the governor, was announced today by Governor Earl K. Long.

In making the announcement of the appointment, Governor Long declared that Earle Christenberry, candidate for state treasurer, has only been acting secretary and he has never drawn a dime from this office.

"The money I have drawn from the treasurer's office for the governor's office is still here except for some extra stenographic help that I have hired. Tugwell (A. P. BASKETBALL'S INVENTOR DIES

Dr. James A. Naismith Succumbs To Heart Ailment

LAWRENCE, Kans., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Dr. James A. Naismith, 78, inventor of basketball, died at 1:50 a.m. today of heart disease following a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Naismith, professor emeritus of physical education at Kansas university, suffered a critical hemorrhage November 19 but rallied and returned home from a hospital last Wednesday. He was stricken again Friday, with a heart attack. He had been in a coma since noon yesterday.

With two peach baskets as equipment, Dr. Naismith originated basketball in 1891 as a winter sport for youths at the Springfield, Mass., Y. M. C. A. training school.

There were nine men on a team and baskets were on the floor. Later he elevated the baskets, reduced the number of players and established rules which have been changed but little in the intervening years.

He gave up the ministry for Y. M. C. A. and physical training work. He joined the University of Kansas staff

FRENCHMAN GIVEN DESERTION TERM

PARIS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Maurice Thorez, secretary-general of the French Communist party before it was outlawed by the government September 26, was sentenced by default today to six years' imprisonment as a deserter from the army.

The military court which pronounced the sentence also ordered confiscation of his property.

Thorez, 39-year-old member of the chamber of deputies, was accused of desertion October 6 after allegedly failing to rejoin his regiment following a leave. He has been sought unsuccessfully by police since that time.

WARREN SOUGHT AS WITNESS IN DILLON'S TRIAL

Sheriff's Office Reported Unable To Locate Him For Summons

The name of the missing J. Lloyd Warren, Ouachita parish police jury president and head of the Louisiana Training institute's governing board, bobbed up again today in the trial of Dr. Harvey Dillon, aged former reformatory superintendent, charged with embezzlement.

A witness testified that Dr. Dillon obtained $100 from the institute's treasury for payment to Warren, himself indicted for profiting from sales to the police jury.

Warren, prominent in Ouachita parish politics and an important figure in this section's oil and gas industry, could not be found by the sheriff's office for summoning as a defense witness in the Dillon case, although he was present in district court a week ago when arguments on motions to quash the Dillon charges were heard.

The police jury president must appear in court Friday according to terms of his $7,500 bond on the charges against him.

W. I. Blewster, 69, bookkeeper at the reformatory for the past 11 years, testified this morning that Dillon, charged with embezzling articles worth $1,140.71, ranging from mules to fishing tackle, received $65 as part payment on an automobile disposed of by the institution.

Blewster asserted Dillon gave him the money but a few days later asked for $100.

"He told me that he had to have $100 to give to Mr. Warren," Blewster told the jury.

This line of testimony was put in the record over strenuous objection of defense counsel, composed of J. Reuel Boone, Joe Cawthorne and George Wesley Smith. They contended the automobile cash transaction in which Dr. Dillon is charged with embezzling $65, ended when the former superintendent turned the money over to Blewster.

In this connection, Blewster testified he was uncertain whether the

PRESIDENT PONDERS DEFICIT REDUCTION

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt gave further thought today to the problem of cutting the government deficit and at the same time boosting expenditures for defense.

The deficit for the fiscal year ending next June 30 is expected to be around $3,500,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt has suggested this might be halved. He has, at the same time, projected a $500,000,000 increase in defense spending.

Mr. Roosevelt pored over the budget for next year in a three-hour conference with Budget Director Harold D. Smith yesterday. It was indicated they gave particular attention to the funds of the treasury and justice departments and the Panama canal.

Smith was flown from Washington in an army bomber to expedite his return with some presidential decisions and prevent delay to a house appropriations sub-committee considering the treasury appropriations bill.

Following his session with the president, Smith told reporters "we were taking out a few appendices."

NOW BURNING ISSUE

Governor Says He's Putting Entire Salary Into Campaign

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Governor Earl K. Long today denied that any state employes were being asked to give 50 per cent of their salaries to his campaign and said he would quickly fire any person forcing contributions.

The governor made his statement in reply to a letter from the People's league in which the league threatened to seek criminal action against him and have him arrested for "extortion" if the reported 50 per cent "contributions" plan was carried out.

"I want to say publicly," Long declared, "to whoever they (People's league) are, that any one who told them that state employes are forced to give five per cent or 50 per cent or any other per cent of their salaries to my campaign fund is not telling the truth.

"I want to say further to them and to the other partisan leagues or organizations like them, and I will repeat this in my talks today and tomorrow," Long declared "that if anybody in our organization is or has been guilty of making state employes give contributions to my campaign, I will fire the guilty ones the moment proof is laid before me."

The "deducts" system, under which it has been reported in the past that state employes were docked a percentage contribution for the campaign fund, became a burning issue over the week-end.

Reports said some state employes were notified that they must hand over up to 50 per cent of their salary next pay day "or else," but this the governor vigorously denied.

In his statement Long called upon "the People's league, the Constitutional League for Home rule and the league for [illegible]" and "all other high-sounding titles that have been dragged out for these little cliques who have organized just for the purpose of fighting the administration" to "quit trying to fool the people by non-political names and come out and admit they are partisans, and hear some plain talk about all these matters."

Long said employes unable financially to contribute to his campaign were not permitted to donate and that he would discuss this subject in his talks at a Spring Creek barbecue this afternoon and his political rally at Lutcher tonight.

"I invite these organizations now to show how sincere they are by laying proof before me at the earliest possible minute," the governor-candidate for the four-year term said. "I can tell them that I know of plenty of cases where contributions of state employes have been refused, because we felt these employes were not financially in a position to make such contributions, even though they volunteered to do so.

"Incidentally, I have been putting one hundred per cent of my salary as governor into the campaign, and have not drawn one penny of expense money since becoming governor. I neither want nor expect any one else to do that.

"When my terms as governor are

The scene of the mass attack on the British navy was not announced but mileage announced by the Germans indicated it might have been in the vicinity of the Shetland or Orkney islands. FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO ATKINS IN RITES HERE

Prominent Industrial Chiefs Attend Funeral Of Business Leader

Final tribute to the business judgment, leadership and generally lofty and helpful spirit that made him stand out as a man among men, was paid to P. M. Atkins, 59, outstanding all-around citizen of northeast Louisiana, at his home, 520 Riverside drive, Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. His death occurred suddenly Sunday night resultant from an internal hemorrhage.

At no funeral held here in years, and quite likely never before, were there so elaborate floral designs and emblems that attested the undying friendship of those in greatly varied walks of life. They came from those high in public office, from sportsmen throughout the country, from business executives in several states, and the rooms of the residence were all too small to accommodate these silent tokens of deepest respect and esteem.

A simple but impressive service was conducted by Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which the Atkins family had for years been stalwart supporters.

The great flower-decorated casket was carried from the house on the way to Riverview Burial park by closest friends and business associates of Mr. Atkins, being J. T. Conger, W.

But two more days remain after today for the completion of the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, and George D. Holland, roll call chairman, on Tuesday urged that all who have not enrolled send in their membership fees to the Ouachita parish chapter, postoffice box 325.

In pointing out that some citizens may not have been solicited, Mr. Holland stressed that everyone is urged to join the Red Cross, as the agency's work has been greatly increased because of the war in Europe. The services of the Red Cross are needed there as never before and a large membership provides the only way that these activities can be carried on, he said.

Ouachita parish chapter desires to enroll not less than 3,000 members throughout the parish this year, and every public-spirited citizen is urged to join and cooperate to the fullest with this great humanitarian organization that means so much to victims

Vitamin B-1 Treatment Aids Paralysis Victims

By Howard W. Blakeslee

(Associated Press Science Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Use of vitamin B-1 to improve a case of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, the deadly, muscle-wasting disease that struck Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees, is announced in the Medical Record.

Not only has it been considered an incurable disease, but in medical literature every case always got progressively worse and worse.

The patient in the new treatment is a Canadian World war veteran. His arm, hand and leg muscles had been wasting since 1933. He had the typical dragging ankle of this malady. Speech was difficult because he could hardly move his tongue.

In March of this year the vitamin treatment was started, both by hypodermic and by mouth, and with a diet rich in vitamin B-1.

At the end of 10 weeks, the veteran could use his tongue again and talk with ease, his ankle dragged less, and muscles in arms, legs and hands were distinctly stronger.

The report is by W. J. McCormick, M. D., of Toronto. It is the presentation of a new medical idea that vitamin B-1 is a remedy for several kinds of paralysis, including the dread infantile variety, and for sleeping sickness.

He says the vitamin treatment was tried in six cases of infantile paralysis, all of which recovered. In two cases, paralysis already had started, but disappeared with recovery.

He reported six other types of muscular-nerve disease which included shaking palsy, the muscular weakness known as myasthenia gravis and two types of muscles shrivelling. In most of these, there was serious paralysis.

Vitamin B-1 treatment improved them all and enabled some who had been unable to walk to go about unaided again on their own feet. A man who was able to walk again reported also his sexual potency had returned.

One case of amnesia, or loss of memory, which accompanied an attack of shaking palsy, was cured in two days.

There were three cases of sleeping sickness, or encephalitis lethargica, and all these were not only apparently cured, but the recovery was rapid.

McCormick advances the idea that faulty diet may be one of the prime causes of all these diseases. He blames lack of vitamin B-1 to a large extent on modern food-processing methods.

He previously has reported that epidemic infantile paralysis was first reported in Germany in 1840 a year after "the modern steel-roller system of milling white flour" began. Epidemic sleeping sickness he said first was reported in 1917 in Austria in an area of war food privation.

FISH ASPIRES TO PRESIDENT'S RACE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—After declaring that he might become a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination on a "keep American out of war" platform, Representative Fish, Republican, New York, disclosed today that he planned an immediate speaking tour in the middle and far west.

He will make his first address at Tucson, Ariz., four days after another potential presidential candidate from New York—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey—speaks at Minneapolis December 6.

Fish said in a radio speech last night that his decision to enter the Republican contest would hinge on whether the candidates presented "keep out of war" as the paramount issue. They have failed to do this so far, he declared.

Government Prepares For Opening Of Trial December 4

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—A. L. Shushan and four other defendants today pleaded innocent to mail fraud charges in the federal government's investigation of Louisiana political corruption and their trial was made ready to open December 4.

In a last legal maneuver Edmond E. Talbot of counsel for defense offered a motion asking a continuance of one week for further preparation of the case, but this was overruled by Federal Judge Wayne G. Borah.

Yesterday Judge Borah overruled other motions asking for a delay of trial until after the January statewide primary and quashing of the indictment on grounds of publicity "prejudicial to the defendants" given by the local newspapers.

The defendants were indicted in connection with the payment of a $496,000 fee by the Orleans levee board to the investment house of Newman, Harris and company for advice and services in bond refunding in which the government claimed the five men shared with little saving to the board.

Those who pleaded with Shushan, a former president of the levee board were: Robert J. Newman, and Norvin Trent Harris, Jr., members of the investment firm; Herbert Waguespack, a former member of the board, and Henry J. Miller.

The government charged misuse of the mails in collection of the fee.

After refusing Talbot's request for

FISHER REMOVED AS VOTERS' REGISTRAR

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 28.—(AP)—The state board of registration today removed Elias Fisher as registrar of voters of Jefferson parish, a position he has held for the past 15 years.

Governor Earl K. Long announced that the action was by unanimous vote of the state board of registration composed of himself, Speaker of the House Lorris M. Wimberly and Acting Lieutenant-Governor Coleman E. Lindsey.

The Jefferson parish police jury is scheduled to meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon to elect Ernest Riviere as registrar of voters to succeed Elias Fisher, nephew of Senator Jules G. Fisher, an administration supporter.

"No man or any half-dozen men is bigger than the administration," Governor Long said last night in announcing that the board of registration would meet. "That goes for the governor as well as for anyone else. So far as winning the campaign, that is over. We don't have to kow-tow to any person because he has a few votes. I think this organization is fortunate in getting rid of Joe Fisher." Joe Fisher, a lieutenant of the late Huey P. Long, who once served a federal sentence for income tax evasion, was dismissed last week from his $300 a month job as secretary of the Louisiana aeronautics commission. He is a brother of Elias Fisher.

RUSSIA BREAKS PACT

Denounces Agreement Of Nonaggression With Little Finland

HELSINKI, Nov. 28.—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman announced tonight that Russia had denounced her nonaggression pact with Finland in a note handed to the Finnish minister in Moscow.

(By Associated Press)

German authorities asserted today that a British heavy cruiser had been torpedoed and destroyed by a submarine off the Shetland islands as mastery of the seas was disputed with growing intensity by Europe's belligerents.

The German announcement said that the cruiser was of the London class, 9,850 tons, and that the same submarine commander who sank the battleship Royal Oak October 14 at Scapa Flow was responsible.

German military experts earlier had asserted the British fleet had been cleared from the North Atlantic as well as the North sea, but King George, opening the first war session of parliament, assured the British empire that sea lanes were being kept "free and open."

British ships brought to port 105 German prisoners from captured or sunken vessels, one of them understood to be a submarine.

Prime Minister Chamberlain announced the British-French blockade of German exports would go into effect December 4.

The mounting Finnish-Russian crisis is shared the European spotlight today with the increasingly bitter German-allied conflict on the seas.

While British maritime losses from the war with Germany mounted and the western front remained quiet, Finland replied with an offer of compromise to Russia's demands for withdrawal of Finnish troops from the frontier. Finland agreed to make such a withdrawal if Russia did likewise.

The Finnish government, denying "hostile intentions," suggested that the dispute be referred to a joint commission established last year to take care of border problems.

Thus Finland tactfully left the door open for Russia to renew negotiations which were broken off November 13 when the Finns refused Soviet demands for military concessions and border revision.

The crisis in Finnish-Russian relations were revived when Moscow accused Finnish troops of firing across

Audit Begun Of Resigned Waterways President's Accounts

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Colonel J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, said here that an audit was being made of the personal expense account of Major-General Q. Ashborn, resigned president of the Inland Waterways corporation.

Colonel Johnson came here with Chester C. Thompson of Rock Island, Ill., newly named president of the corporation, and Aubrey C. Mills, former commerce department official, who is now administrative assistant to Thompson.

General Johnson said that when the waterways corporation was transferred from the jurisdiction of the secretary of war to the commerce department he discovered that General Ashburn was receiving an expense account of $5,000 per year and other expenses in addition to his salary of $10,000 a year.

He said he asked the department of justice to investigate the legality of the expense payments.

"I am not at liberty to discuss the attorney general's ruling," he said, "but after consulting the department I put the auditors to work. At the termination of the audit, which goes back to the corporation organization in 1924, he will determine what action to take next."

He added that a yacht which was at General Ashburn's disposal, costing $20,000 a year to run had been de-

He accused the state administration of being an "evil tree that brings forth corrupt fruit."

The Lake Charles attorney charged the administration had hampered the growth of the port of New Orleans and thus injured the whole state, and inveighed against the selling of homes and farms for taxes.

James I. McCain, candidate for attorney general, said at the Constitutional league meeting in New Orleans that if "certain officials are returned to office there will be bloodshed."

"A good way to eliminate the bloodshed," he said, "is to give them a coat of tar and feathers right now."

McCain is a candidate on the ticket of James H. Morrison.

Moseley said he started his campaign 10 days before another candidate, Sam Jones, and had spent $4,100 of his own money.

"Jones, it has been rumored," Moseley said, "started off his campaign with a fund of $250,000. Jones has never once denied the size of it.

"Louisiana is a machine ridden state again threatened by the J. Y. Sanders-Sam Jones organization."

McCain, saying he represented not only himself but Morrison, head of the ticket, assailed Senator Allen J. Ellender for having uttered the stupidest dumbest thing ever said by a political misfit."

He referred to what he said were statements Ellender made that he would attempt to curb the freedom of the press in Louisiana.

Mrs. Edith M. Frank of New Orleans, candidate for register of the state land office, announced her platform, including one pledge to prevent public officials or employes from acquiring interests in any oil leases on public lands.

She also promised to operate the land office to benefit the public, not the major oil companies; to investigate oil leases to determine whether state lands have been allowed to be treated as private property and to sponsor a law prohibiting the register of the land office from having more than one successive term.

identical bills obtained from the automobile transaction were included in the $100 payment to Dr. Dillon for Warren.

One of the items in the indictment against Dillon charged him with embezzlement of $65 in cash.

Blewster, the bookkeeper, was recalled for testimony after each witness and he said none of these transactions appeared on the books.

Church Junior Guild Tea Gets Attention

Among the lighter, gayer moments, were those spent at the Y M H A club rooms Monday night as the guests of the Temple Sisterhood who entertained with their annual benefit card party and extended the gracious courtesies friends have learned to associate with these annual affairs.

The pre-holiday season created an atmosphere of festivity in the spacious club rooms where tables were grouped for cards. The prizes were greatly coveted as many of them were luscious home made cakes donated by members of the Sisterhood who excel in the art of cake making.

Grew Worse Daily Before The Gly-Cas

Elderly Man Enjoys Good Health Again, Eats And Sleeps Good, Strength And Energy Returns

"Gly-Cas is the first medicine I have ever taken that did exactly as it claimed," said Mr. T. C. Brannen, Shell Beach road, P. O. Box 837, Lake Charles, La. "My bowels were so very irregular allowing the continual clogging of toxic impurities. The complications I suffered were terrible. My back pained badly and a good night's sleep was out of the question because of the continual disturbances of frequent bladder action. It seemed I was sapped of all my strength and energy and I was greatly concerned over my condition for at my age of seventy-one I had little hopes for recovery. My digestion was bad for nearly everything I ate caused me to suffer . . . then I decided to try Gly-Cas.

"Gly-Cas actually surprised me how quickly it took hold of my case," continued Mr. Brannen. "The clogged impurities are now being regularly eliminated through proper bowel action. Neither am I disturbed by frequent night risings but get good sound, strength-giving sleep each night. I have lots of pep and energy now. Those dreadful backaches have been relieved too. I am not surprised that so many are recommending this herbal Gly-Cas to other sufferers. Gly-Cas fit my case as if made for me alone."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. —Adv.

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

YESTERDAY: Smith tells Michael that because he needed money he agreed to submit to an experiment by Murchison. Now he lives in fear that Murchison will ask him to keep his bargain . . . Michael's father, the District Attorney, comes to dinner.

Chapter 16

Letter From Chicago

"I WILL forgive you for keeping this mystery from me," Tuck solemnly told Michael's father, "on condition that you use your keen and agile brain in solving my little private mystery. Michael can't. He's too dumb. I can't. It has a mechanical bent that is quite beyond my poor feminine mind. Bunny can't. I asked her. So it's up to you."

"Certainly," John Forrester agreed. "And what is it then, my dear?"

"It's my necklace," Tuck said. "Where is it? It's gone."

"Gone?"

"Gone. Disappeared. Michael says the insides of the pipes are smooth. And even I can see that if you drop a small and slippery thing down the inside of a large pipe it would have a tendency to land at the bottom. But it didn't."

Her father-in-law surveyed her from beneath bushy brows. "You are not talking to Michael," he reminded her, "whose mind works in a scatter-brained fashion. I am a bit slow and ponderous, perhaps, but I feel that I could do with a wee little more detail."

Tuck explained.

"It's not in the pipe? In the basement?"

"No."

"Nor yet in the furnace?"

"No."

"Well, then," he said, and settled comfortably back in his chair, "it must be somewhere in between."

"Very simple indeed," said Michael.

Tuck sighed. "I suppose it's gone forever," she said. "I can't quite see us pulling the house to pieces for a string of corals. It will break my heart to lose it." She looked sideways at her father-in-law. "I thought perhaps it had found out where the diamonds were hidden and gone to keep them company," she said.

"Humpf. Diamonds?"

"Diamonds," she repeated firmly. "You may all laugh if you wish, but I am more and more firmly convinced that the diamonds—Professor Murchison's diamonds, are hidden somewhere in this house, and that someone knows it and is looking for them. Higgins, probably. Although, even though he and his five thousand dollars sound very very suspicious, I don't think he has sense enough to hang pots and pans on the doors. It's too bright an idea for Higgins. Somebody else, Father Forrester."

"Mrs. Murchison," Bunny murmured. Tuck seized upon the idea instantly.

"Mrs Murchison sounds reasonable," she said. "I wouldn't believe anything she said anyway. I'm sure she's a double-crosser or whatever you call people like that. And I think she read 'The Bartered Bride' herself. It shows the kind of a mind she's got."

"If we were sure it was murder," Tuck went on after a reflective silence, "if we were positive he was murdered, it would be simple."

"Very," Bunny agreed dryly. "We'd just stand the whole campus in a row and say Eenie Meenie. Any of these people there at Deanes' might be guilty. Any of them."

"Oh, Bunny, not Mrs. Deane. Not Mrs. Deane, Bunny."

'Just A Mistake'

"NO. Not Mrs. Deane. Unless she did it with an electric toaster or a sewing machine. From the looks of her she has one or the other in her hand all the time."

"I bet he's the kind of husband that simply makes a dreadful fuss about a button being off."

Michael looked at Tuck. She put her chin in the air, and averted her face. "You seem to be maligning me," he said bitterly. "I said almost nothing about my blue shirt. Nothing."

"I wasn't even thinking of you, Michael Forrester. I was thinking about Mr. Deane and those awful squinty eyes that you can't see, and the sarcastic things he says to you when you play the wrong card. And didn't you see that he didn't even have the same salad that we did? She had to fix something very special for him."

"We had lobster, and he had fruit," Bunny contributed.

Michael groaned. "Just because a poor man wears glasses and has a weak stomach. . . . I tremble to think of you two being on the police force. I suppose you'd hang all the cross-eyed men just because."

"Well, of course," said Tuck with one of her lightning changes. "We aren't sure. Maybe none of them are. Maybe it's somebody else."

"And maybe it isn't anybody at all," Michael added.

"Michael, such nonsense. What about the diamonds?"

"Poof," said Michael. "There aren't any diamonds."

"It's so nice," said Bunny with sweetness, "to know that there's no mystery. No diamonds, just a mistake. The Professor has merely stepped out, Madam, and will be back in half an hour. Let's learn to knit, Tuck."

"No suggestive remarks, please, Bunny," said Tuck severely. Michael grinned.

"You could sew the button on my blue shirt," he mentioned. "Or is that what you'd call a suggestive remark, too?"

Tuck sniffed. "I am firmly convinced," she said, "that the Professor has been foully murdered, done to death in his own study, preferably by his wife, who then cleared away, pawned the diamonds and moved out. All we have to do is to find the diamonds, find a body, and hide the lady's mascara so a self-respecting jury can hang her without any qualms."

"What I'd like to know," said Bunny, "is where does the brother come in?"

"Does he have to come in, Bunny?" Michael asked plaintively.

Bunny colored faintly. "Something is bothering him."

"What about the pipe I found?" Tuck wanted to know.

Michael rubbed his forehead. "I'm not just so sure about that," he said slowly. "What would you think, Tuck . . . supposing you—well, supposing you were afraid that I had gone off on a trip with another woman and left you. You had been told that. And then, suddenly, someone comes along with my pipe, that I am never without. You know that nothing short of a cataclysm would make me give up my pipe. Yet here, apparently, I have forgotten it. Wouldn't you get something of a jolt just for a minute? Wouldn't you wonder—or, perhaps, wouldn't it hurt just for a moment?"

"Well, perhaps, just a very little," Tuck agreed.

'Womanly Sympathies'

BUNNY was looking at Michael shrewdly. "This display of wisdom and general deducing is very effective," she said. "Particularly the last bit of appeal to our womanly sympathies. But before you rend our hearts any further, would you mind telling us quite frankly where you get this woman idea?"

Michael sighed. "Life is cruel," he murmured. Then with a gesture of resignation he said, "Well, . . . if I must. The Commissioner got a letter."

"A letter?"

"Um."

"Who wrote it?"

"The Missing Professor."

"What?"

"Even so, my children."

"Where is he?"

"He didn't state his present address."

"What made him write to the Commissioner?"

"He didn't write to the Commissioner. To his wife."

"To his wife?"

"Listen, don't say things over after me like that. It makes me dizzy."

"Well, tell us then, Michael! This suspense is awful."

"He wrote to his wife, and said he was sorry, that he didn't love her any longer, and that he had gone away never to return. And she took the letter to the Commissioner."

"Oh, she did, did she?"

"Yea, verily."

"Michael Forrester, I bet you're still trying to play hide and seek with us. Was it in his very own handwriting?"

"It was."

"Dated?"

"Dated—six weeks after he left."

Tuck stared at him in silence for a long minute. Then, "Michael—was it in the envelope?"

"It was."

"And the postmark?"

"The postmark? Oh . . ." Michael grinned at her suspense. "Perfectly straight and correct, my love. Chicago. And kindly don't make any remarks about machine guns or gangsters, Bunny," he finished sternly as he saw a remark trembling on her lips.

Bunny frowned. "Chicago? Chicago, Michael?"

"Yes."

Tuck sank back into the couch. "Isn't that simply awful," she said miserably. "It's just like a balloon with a pin stuck in it," she reflected. "It can't be in his own handwriting," she said.

The District Attorney looked at her. "It's in his own handwriting."

"Is that certain?"

"As certain as the best expert we know can make it."

Tuck sighed. "We're sort of stopped, aren't we? Although . . . you can't tell me that all this sneaking around and crawling into people's houses and hanging pots and pans on people's doors, and getting the pots and pans away again before anybody can get a look at them, and turning pale and holding their breaths is imagination. I refuse to believe it. There's something in the woodpile."

Michael still paced the floor.

"There's many a good man," said the District Attorney to the gas-log, "hung on circumstantial evidence."

Continued tomorrow

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris have returned from their honeymoon, and in honor of Mrs. Morris, the former Miss Dorris Drane, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Price gave them a shower at their home. This miscellaneous shower which was a complete surprise to the honoree, was attended by the entire membership of the Little Theater players, of which Mrs. Morris is a member.

The lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. Price with its array of chrysanthemums and potted plants used in the decoration, lent itself to creating a fitting and festive atmosphere for the occasion. On pretense of showing the bride some new details of the hostess' kitchen time was given for the other guests to pile gifts around the chair of Mrs. Morris. Upon her return to the living room it was easily seen that the surprise as well as her joy was complete. Earlier in the evening a short business session of the Little Theater players was held, after which James McGehee, librarian of the parish, gave a most interesting discourse upon "Green Drama." At the close of the program the hostess served a delicious dessert course.

The annual banquet of the Alathean Sunday school class of the First Baptist church was held at the Virginia hotel.

A red and white color theme was employed, with superb chrysanthemums and carnations overflowing from pottery jars. The table, covered with a handsome banquet cloth, had a central appointment of red carnations and fern and along the board tall red tapers burned in crystal candlesticks.

Program highlights were readings by Miss Lallage Feazel and vocal numbers by Miss Johnette Register. One number, "I Love You Truly," was dedicated to Mrs. George Cox, whose wedding anniversary fell on that day.

Four delicious courses were served to Mrs. Raymond Spence, Mrs. Gertrude Feazel Anderson, Mrs. Jessica Lawn, Mrs. Blanche Foulkes, Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. Pearl Averett and Misses Maurene Cobb, Bernice Wrenn, Ruth Hamilton, Kathryn Barrett, Lallage Feazel, Gretchen Rainbolt, Octave Register, Cilla Fay Duchesne, Kitty King, Violet Feazel, Justine Wilson and Johnette Register.

Friends will regret to learn of the departure this week of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dillard and daughter, Gail. Mr. Dillard was recently transferred to Alexandria and will be joined by Mrs. Dillard and Gail the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Guerriero had as their guests during the Thanksgiving holidays, Mrs. Guerriero's mother and sister, Mrs. L. Dowling and Miss Ruby Dowling, and nephew, William L. Langlois, Jr., of New Orleans, La.

Among the many lovely pre-nuptial parties was a shower tea given by Miss Lucille Jones and Mrs. E. Henderson featuring Miss Marjorie Lee Rabb, whose wedding will be a prominent event on Tuesday to Mr. Jack Hopkins of Waterproof, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Rabb. The Jones home was beautifully decorated throughout with flowers and on the table in the dining room was a handsome wedding cake with a wedding bell, with artistic bouquet of lilies of the valley between the candlesticks at either end holding pink lighted tapers.

Cutting The Swag

Twenty-[illegible] states are now permitting their citizens to bet [illegible] make a killing on the horses as long as the state gets a cut of the swag. In the representative states, bettors with "sure things" paid the authorities a total of $7,977,511 in taxes out of total bets of $21[illegible].

Although nearly half the states in the union are permitting pari-mutuel betting the legislators who approved this type of gambling have generally not condoned betting wholeheartedly. Their position is simply that if people are going to bet anyway, the practice may as well be made legal and the state may as well take a share.

This puts the 22 states in the enviable position of being the only persons in the horse racing picture who really have sure tips. They can't lose. Even if the favorite comes in with the dawn the state still collects its share of what the suckers put on his nose. A system has been found at last and it works every time.

The Rhine

In the long view Hitler stands to lose for Germany its most precious military possession—the Rhine. Its surrender will be more vital to Germany than the gains of Austria, Bohemia and Poland.

Hitler was not using his head, if any, when he so conducted himself that the issue was shifted to his western front. He could have left Poland alone and pursued his original plan of a thrust through Rumania against Russia to far better purpose.

When peace is forced upon Germany again, with Hitler handed his walking papers, France will insist upon the permanent inclusion of the Rhine as its outlying line of defense. In that hour no combination of nations will be able to halt France's decision to follow Foch's counsel, to wit:

"Whoever is master of the Rhine is master of everything; whoever is not on the Rhine has lost everything."

SISSY

The worst part of [illegible] the wish and will of the boy [illegible] He knows he should not do to be with those [illegible] what he has been taught is wrong to do, and when the catastrophe comes, his only expression, his sole defense is, "They'd call me Sissy." Well, if he hasn't proved himself to be one there is no proof possible.

The boys who talk this way know better. They know right well that nobody on earth could make them go where they did not want to go nor make them do what they did not want to do. They disregard their teachers and their parents. They disregard the community's disapproval, and the law, and then they say, "I had to go or they'd call me Sissy." The truth would be, "I wanted to go with them for the fun I'd have." Which is childlike and childish in the extreme.

Whenever a boy says this his parents and teachers may know that he is still a child, irresponsible as a child, in need of the training, discipline and supervision of a child. He cannot be given responsibility for his own behavior. He cannot be trusted with his own affairs. Someone in authority over him must carry him until he learns self-control and a little horse sense.

Height and age are no guarantee of sound judgment and reason. The fact that a boy is wearing a man's suit is no guarantee of his manhood. He is judged by his conduct, and the conduct that is summed up in "They'd call me Sissy," is childish, infantile. Put such a boy under supervision and control for such time as he continues to dwell in childhood.

Is meal-time a troublesome problem in your family? For valuable advice about getting children to eat as they should send for Angelo Patri's booklet, "Eating," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care the Monroe News-Star, Postoffice Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

The Japanese have replied in kind. Within the past few days a detailed report was filed with the state department of the increasing restrictions imposed by Japanese on Yankee operations in China.

MOB THREATENS TO SEIZE FOOD IN CLEVELAND

Mayor Promises Relief Even If City Services 'Destroyed'

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Mayor Harold H. Burton was ready today to "destroy" this city's regular services to feed hungry reliefers, who have threatened to obtain food "on our own authority."

"Relief comes ahead of every obligation," Burton told 1,000 shouting jobless last night as they stormed city hall to demand that the city take immediate steps to restore curtailed relief.

Answering [illegible] to feed ourselves," Bur[illegible].

"That is [illegible]. That must not be permitted [illegible] and will not be permitted [illegible]. We have been meeting [illegible] and we will meet [illegible]."

C. B. C[illegible] of unem[illegible] that [illegible] council restore regular relief orders, drastically slashed because of dwindling funds.

With aproximately 70,000 on relief, the city has lopped off the rolls employables without dependents and sliced benefits to others.

Yesterday three relief stations were closed temporarily when crowds jammed into the buildings. Some of those cut off relief told reporters they had been without food for two days.

Burton placed responsibility for the crisis on the state. He has tried unsuccessfully to get Governor John W. Bricker to call a special session of the legislature to consider the relief problem.

"We know perfectly well there is a surplus of state taxes being collected," the mayor said, "and we advocated the legislature be recalled to act on the case. If this is not done, I believe the city faces the necessity of destroying its city services. If it is necessary, that will be done."

Council has appealed to the WPA to add 10,000 men to its rolls here.

Earlier Burton and Toledo officials had denied a charge made at Columbus that certain larger Ohio cities made no sincere effort to raise funds locally for relief.

B. D. Leckilder, president of the inter-organization conference composed of business representatives, made the charge declaring "the state has met its responsibilities under the relief act."

Governor Bricker [illegible] a group of Ohio newspaper editors to a conference today on the problem.

Police Captain Eugene Auf[illegible] said three squad cars were dispatched to [illegible] on the [illegible] experienced [illegible].

Demonstrations at relief stations have been frequent, a group [illegible] starting [illegible] at one office last week.

The Morning After Taking Carter's Little Liver Pills

ACREAGE GOAL TOTAL FOR 1940 REMAINS SAME

Amount For Wheat Increased And Thot For Cotton Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The agricultural adjustment administration today set the 1940 goal for soil-depleting crops at 270,000,000 to 285,000,000 acres, the same as this year.

It increased the acreage for wheat and cut the rate of soil conservation payments on that grain to nine cents a bushel from this year's 17 cents.

The corn acreage goal was lowered slightly and the payments to cooperating farmers set at 10 cents a bushel, compared with nine cents this year.

Cotton acreage was unchanged, and the rate lowered to 1.6 cents a pound from 1.8 cents.

Acreage goals were raised also for rice and type 41 and Georgia-Florida type 62 tobacco. They were lowered for peanuts and burley, flue-cured and fire and dark air-cured tobacco. Acreage goals remained the same for potatoes, cigar filler and binder types of tobacco other than types 41 and 45.

"Insofar as authorized funds permit," said R. M. E[illegible], AAA administrator, "the 1940 program continues the efforts of farmers toward abundance for the nation's consumers, conservation of our vital soil resources, and [illegible] income from agriculture.

"W[illegible] farmers are prepared as never before to meet the shocks imposed by war in Europe and further demoralization of world trade."

The 1940 program will offer more [illegible] for soil conservation than [illegible] officials said, largely [illegible] of payment [illegible] practices not normally [illegible] on many farms [illegible] such as seeding [illegible] credit.

A[illegible] officials said the 1940 program would provide ample [illegible] all domestic needs, exports, and an adequate [illegible].

P[illegible] for wheat, corn, cotton [illegible] supplemented [illegible] from a special $[illegible] of the 1939 [illegible] less than [illegible]. The payments are [illegible] purchasing power [illegible] before the World war.

The [illegible] acreage goals for 1939 and 1940 [illegible]:

	1940	1939
[illegible]	[illegible]	55,000,000-60,000,000
[illegible]	[illegible]	94,000,000-97,000,000
[illegible]	[illegible]	same
[illegible]	[illegible]	530,000-550,000
[illegible]	[illegible]	1,550,000-1,650,000
[illegible]	[illegible]	same

The acreage [illegible] commercial [illegible] same as the 1939 figure.

P[illegible] on the normal [illegible] acreage allotments. The [illegible] rates of payment are:

	1940	1939
Corn, per bushel	$ .10	$ .09

WEALTHY OIL MAN HONORED AT PARTY

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Frank Phillips, wealthy oil man, was honor guest at a gigantic birthday party to which he wasn't even invited.

But Phillips, 66 years old today, couldn't possibly miss the party. It spread all over this city of 18,000 whose population was swelled by thousands of guests.

"That's the truth," Phillips said with a solemn wink. "Nobody has given me an invitation to this party yet. I'll probably have to crash it some way."

Banners proclaimed "Happy Birthday, Uncle Frank."

"I don't see why I should get excited," Phillips grinned. "It's just another birthday."

But the oil company chairman was not exactly calm.

"Look at this," he exclaimed as he dragged out one birthday present after another. One greeting was five feet long.

A parade will be a pageant of Phillips' life—his transition from the son of a Nebraska pioneer judge to barbershop proprietor to banker to oil man.

PROBE OF POLICE AT HUNTINGTON SOUGHT

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 28.—(AP)—A vice crusade waged here by state enforcement authorities brought a request today for an investigation of the municipal police department.

City council by a unanimous vote asked the police civil service commission to make an immediate inquiry as the outgrowth of more than 50 raids in which the city's 70 police were not asked to participate.

For a month state troopers, liquor commission agents and deputy sheriffs have been warring on gambling halls, unlicensed liquor establishments and handbook operators.

But the illegal enterprises did not darken their places until eight "rebel" policemen took matters into their own hands and started raiding "to end our humiliation and embarrassment."

Two of the independent raiders later were appointed to a new vice squad by Police Chief Len H. Whitten who issued orders, they said, to "lock up the town."

They found a two-inch firecracker. Jean put it in her mouth. Jane, recalling the fun neighbor boys had on the Fourth, got daddy's cigaret lighter.

Jean's mouth was burned, but only superficially. Jane's fingers were scorched.

"I was trying to smoke it and eat it," explained Jean.

"It pops," exclaimed Jane, with assurance.

TEXAS A. AND M., SOUTHERN CAL GET TIE VOTE

CORNELL GIVEN 3RD PLACE AND TENNESSEE 4TH

Far West Team Shows Rapidly Gaining Strength In Poll

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—For lack of a chairman to cast the deciding vote, the seventh Associated Press football ranking poll of the season today found Texas A. and M. and Southern California tied for first place with 939 points each.

It was the first deadlock in the four-year history of this gauge of national gridiron strength, and was a tribute to the avalanche-like style in which the Trojan machine has gained momentum from week to week since its opening-game tie with Oregon.

The Aggies, who need to beat Texas Thursday to finish their campaign with a clean slate, [illegible] last week. But Southern California impressed a [illegible] gathering of experts with its power [illegible] in whipping Notre Dame [illegible] take Tennessee and Cornell [illegible] half-share in the front-running position.

Fast Action Likely In Main Mat Event Tonight

Burns Meets Sampson; Watkins Grapples Reynolds In Semifinal

The mat menu at the Monroe Wrestling arena tonight promises some fast action, with Cyclone Burns tangling with Dick Sampson in a final event that should about set a new record for speed in the local arena.

Burns, who is as fast and hard to hold as his first name sounds, will be making his second appearance before Monroe fans. The Detroit, Mich., junior light-heavy made a quick hit with fans in his first showing here last week, his fast, savage style going over big. Burns almost took the spotlight in the popularity contest away from Otto Ludwig, German grappler who wrestled the Detroit motman to a draw.

Sampson, smiling Ohioan, has a good record here and, although he has been wrestling men at a greater weight, [illegible] about the same weight as Burns tonight. The Ohioan packs a hard punch with plenty of speed and he will have to call on his best of these two abilities to meet Burns [illegible] tonight.

WAVE-AGGIE TILT CHOICE AT ORLEANS

Monday Quarterbacks Prefer Two Squads For New Orleans Classic

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The business and professional men composing the Monday Quarterbacks club decided Monday they would rather see Tulane and Texas A. and M. in the Sugar Bowl than any other pair, with Tulane and Tennessee a close second.

In a poll taken at the weekly luncheon Monday the Tulane-Aggie tilt received 58 first-place votes and 33 second. Tulane and Tennessee were first 36 times and second 25. Tennessee and the Aggies rated seven first and three second choices.

The voting was entirely unofficial and, although several members of the Sugar Bowl executive board were present, they did not participate.

Coach Lowell Dawson of Tulane told the members his team would be [illegible] against Louisiana State Saturday and [illegible] that most of his [illegible] members of freshman [illegible] were beaten by [illegible] composed of [illegible] Tulane men [illegible] and better [illegible] taking [illegible]

"If so we want to assure you of our cooperation and offer the facilities of the state fair."

Normal has played in Shreveport twice this year, beating Centenary in the opening game for both schools and defeating Louisiana Tech later at the state fair.

Officials at the school suggested the game, if played, should be on a Saturday or on Christmas.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—[illegible] Tulane Greenies were back [illegible] Monday as the squad resumed [illegible] game with Louisiana State university this week end.

Five men have been suffering from bruises and other injuries but are expected to be in shape for the L. S. U. game. Those rounding into shape are Harry Hays, Harley McCollum, Tommy O'Boyle, Stan Nyhan and Pete Man[illegible].

Monday's workout was light but heavier duty was scheduled for Tuesday and during the week.

HEARING ON THOMAS CHARGES IS SLATED

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Illinois State Athletic commisison decided Monday to hold a public hearing Dec. 11 to sift charges made by Harry Thomas that he engaged in fake fights with Tony Galento and Max Schmeling.

The commission invited Galento and Schmeling, as well as their manager, Joe Jacobs of New York, and Nate Lewis of Chicago, manager of Thomas, to attend. The seconds of the boxers, judges, referees and the promoters of the two contests which were held in New York and Philadelphia also were invited to the hearing.

Thomas will be requested to explain the confession published in the Chicago Tribune in which he claimed he "laid down" in his fights with Schmeling and Galento. However, Thomas refused to testify at a hearing before the New York State Athletic commission a week ago on the plea that he did not want to "degrade" himself.

If Thomas refuses to attend the Illinois hearing or to testify before the commisison, Chairman Joseph Triner said he did not believe the commisison had the authority to force him to do so.

INDIANS USE CARE AGAINST NEW INJURIES

Northeast Center Faces Strong Defensive Eleven Here Thursday

With the prospect of facing one of the toughest of 1939 foes when they meet East Central Mississippi Junior college here Thursday night, the Northeast Center of L. S. U. Indians are taking no chances on further weakening their combination as a result of injuries.

Although workouts yesterday and the remainder of theweek will be strenuous, Coach James L. Malone said last night the Tribesmen would get no actual contact scrimmages, as he would need every available man to meet the invasion. Injuries have the Redskins in bad enough shape without inviting more casualties in rough scrimmages, Coach Malone said.

The Tribe got a long drill yesterday, stressing offensive work, punting and pass offense. A 40-minute blocking session was the toughest part of the drill. Another lengthy session, featured by a dummy scrimmage, is slated for today.

East Central, from Decatur, Miss., is an outstanding defensive eleven, rated even better than Arkansas Tech, a team that subdued the locals last week. In two years of undefeated conquests the East Central eleven has held eighteen opposing teams to a total of only 40 points. Against those eighteen foes the Mississippians have rolled up 460 points or an average of a fraction better than 25 points a game.

The Indians realize they will have to have their offensive working without a flaw to crack the stellar defense of the big Mississippi team, and the invaders can be expected to be working hard to chalk up their second consecutive undefeated season and win their 16th consecutive victory. Two tie games early in the 1938 season were the last blemishes on the East Central Junior college's record.

The Tribe will go into action with one back, a tackle and a guard not expected to be available for service. Ben Starrett, back, will not play because of a side injury sustained last week, and John Porter, guard, and Hal Hansen, tackle, are out with leg injuries. The suspension several days ago of Rusty Broussard, guard, leaves the locals without a regular guard. Bill Powell and Mike Mihalic, [illegible] guards three weeks ago, are now in the regular slots.

The return to form of Harry Merrill [illegible] "Pinkie" Blackwell, veteran backs, has the ball luggers shaping up to something resembling their old form despite the loss of Starrett. Merton has been looking especially good in drills the past few days and is expected to be in good shape for the visitors, although he may not be in the starting lineup.

The backfield yesterday consisted of Cecil Frey, Blackwell, Roe Wooten and "Taffy" Westerman, all freshmen. An all-sophomore backfield, Max Hutchins, Guy Beeson, Bill Singleton and Don Short, also functioned smoothly.

John Nicosia, regular center, who was injured a few weeks ago, is back in good condition once more, but Tommy Younse, Monroe youngster, has shown such creditable work at the pivot post in Nicosia's absence that he will probably start the Thursday game. The return of Nicosia, however, relieves all Coach Malone's worries regarding the center position.

TEAM'S WINS AMAZE SNAVELY

Coach Says He's Surprised At Record Of Made-Over Cornell Squad

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Slim keen-eyed Carl Snavely stood before the members of the Metropolitan Football Writers association Monday and told them that his Cornell team's all-winning season "was more amazing to me than to anyone else."

"I've had more fun this fall than in any other year in my coaching career," said the man who brought a made-over ball club through eight straight victories. "I'm indebted to the boys, to the Cornell people and to the newspaper men.

"But I still haven't got over my surprise. We had more injuries than in any of my three other years at Cornell, yet when we looked around we discovered that boys we'd hardly counted on were doing the big jobs. Lou Conti, one guard, as a freshman wasn't good enough to make the trips with a 33-man squad. Howie Dunbar, the other guard, was a converted tackle.

"Bud Finneran at center, who had more playing time than any other man on the squad, started as a substitute halfback last year. But he was too slow for that spot, and a knee injury slowed him up more. He missed spring practice this year. Yet he has been a standout, one of the most underrated men on the team.

"Mort Landsberg, who became our regular fullback, was a reserve halfback on the jayvee squad a year ago. Despite the fact he weighed only 162 pounds after our final practice last week, he made plenty of yardage through the middle of some very tough lines, and developed into the best safety man I've had at Ithaca."

Walter Okeson, chairman of the national football rules committee, told the writers the only new suggested change in rules was proffered by Harry Mehre of Mississippi. Mehre, in order to discourage "spot" punting and bring back punt returns, would slap a 15-yard penalty on the kicking team for any out-of-bounds punt. The ball would go to the receiving team; in other words, 15 yards up the field from where it went out of bounds.

None of the other suggestions, Okeson said, was new. They included returning the goal posts to the goal line, elimination of the second-half kickoff and permission to pass from any point behind the line of scrimmage.

Coaches Explain Pigskin Ups And Downs To Prof

The Boys Tune Up For Final Examinations Next Monday Morning

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The day was foggy and so was the Old Professor as he tried to speed things up by looking over his glasses and his Monday morning class of football coaches at the same time.

Old Professor—Please excuse my condition again, gentlemen. I sat up with a sick friend last night. He bet on Ohio State. How about that game, Mr. Schmidt? What happened?

Francis Schmidt, Ohio State—We outfumbled Michigan, Professor, and you can't do that in a tight game and expect to win. This Tom Harmon certainly is a ball player. I just can't understand why a club like Michigan lost any games.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan—I'm tickled to death to win. It was a thriller, and I'm still so breathless I can hardly talk.

Old Professor—Mr. Mehre, do breaks always decide a football game?

Harry Mehre, Mississippi—Not always, Professor. We got most of the breaks against State, but were were just outplayed, that's all.

Allyn McKeen, Mississippi State—Naturally I'm pleased. Our boys were in fine condition and got stronger as the game went along, which was the payoff.

Old Professor—Are those your eyebrows away up there, Mr. Jennings?

Morley Jennings, Baylor—I guess so. I was that surprised at the strength of S. M. U. Its defensive play baffled us.

Matty Bell, S. M. U.—I guess my boys were hot Saturday. Baylor has a good team, but we got started early.

Old Professor—Cheer up, Mr. Munger, nothing can be that bad.

George Munger, Penn—That good, you mean. That Cornell club is the best we've run into since I've been coaching at Penn. We couldn't find a weakness.

Carl Snavely, Cornell—For a team that makes the most of its opportunities, this Cornell team is the best I ever coached, and it's been a lot of fun coaching it, watching it develop.

Old Professor—Worried, Mr. Alexander?

Bill Alexander, Georgia Tech—Not now, but that Florida team played hard football and had us really worried for awhile. It has a fine tackle in Clark Goff and a great back in Tommy Harrison.

Josh Cody, Florida—The Tech team was clever and took advantage of every break. Fumbling was costly to us.

Old Professor—Quit sticking out your chest, Mr. Anderson.

Eddie Anderson, Iowa—I'm right proud of my boys, Professor. Fumbles didn't do us any good, and the boys might have been a little tired from the start but they played a good ball game. We missed Kinnick's passing in the last quarter, but injuries and fumbles are just part of the game.

Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern—We came up against a tough team in Iowa. Buzz Dean seemed to carry on very well when Kinnick went out, so we weren't any better off.

Old Professor—How about that team of yours now, Mr. Pond?

Ducky Pond, Yale—The boys played inspired ball, Professor, and as a unit. They showed they had the stuff when one touchdown was called back and they went out and got another.

Dick Harlow, Harvard—I can't say anything but the best about Yale. It was one of the best coaching jobs I have ever seen.

Old Professor—My congratulations, Mr. Jones, on a fine season.

Biff Jones, Nebraska—Thank you, Professor. Our game against Oklahoma Saturday undoubtedly was the best we played. The Sooners have a well-balanced team, and Seymour's loss unquestionably hurt them.

Tom Stidham, Oklahoma—Nebraska certainly deserved to win. It has a fine bunch of backs. I liked the play of Rohrig and Seeman especially.

Elmer Layden, Notre Dame—Southern California had lots of power and it was a grand game. We are satisfied Notre Dame came through a tough schedule in such fine style. With a little break here and there we might have won, but my hat is off to a great U. S. C. team, the best we've met since it beat us last year.

Howard Jones, Southern California—there's no question about Notre Dame being the toughest team we've met yet. They gained more ground than any other team we've played. We aren't talking about care whether or not it's Tennessee. Kerr, Piepul, Sheridan and Riffle were outstanding for the Irish.

Old Professor—Well, Im sorry this meeting of the mutual admiration society must come to an end, but our time is up. The final exams are next week, so come prepared. Good day, gentlemen.

KENTUCKY THROUGH HARD WORK FOR VOL BATTLE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 28.—(AP)—The University of Kentucky's football practice season reached the home stretch Monday as the Wildcats prepared for their nationally important game here Nov. 30, Thanksgiving day, against the Tennessee Volunteers.

As heavy work ended for the once-beaten, once-tied Cats last Saturday, Monday's drill consisted principally of a defensive dummy scrimmage. The Volunteers' plays were executed in slow motion by the Z-club.

TORONTO—Dave Castilloux, 135, Canadian featherweight champion, outpointed Wally Hally, 138, Los Angeles (10).

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—A Yale-Minnesota grid series is cooking. . . . Henry Armstrong is down with the grippe and may not be able to fight Lou Ambers Friday night. . . . Vanderbilt players say if Tennessee and Tulane were out there tomorrow they'd spot the Greenies six points and load up. . . . Coach Potsy Clark's departure on a scouting expedition coincided with a wave of reports that the football Dodgers are about to give him the old heave-ho. . . . Tom Packs is dickering for a Gunnar Barlund-Bob Pastor bout in St. Louis January 9. . . . If the Texas Aggies are invited to a bowl game it is believed they'll promise to send only two guys, figuring they'll be enough.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reports that Fullback John Kimbrough of the Aggies hit the Texas Christian line so hard the ends were knocked out of bounds.

Miss Ruth Thompson, the Birmingham gal, paced the 2,754 pigskin pickers under the wire to win the big guessperting contest. . . . She called nine of the ten games correctly and if Iowa had licked Northwestern she would have had a full house. . . . That's picking, folks, and a big hand for her. . . . If she gets any vaudeville offers, we want to be cut in for ten per cent. . . . Thirty-five guys called eight out of ten and two of 'em—Bernie Schwartz, High Point, N. C., and Jack Mitchell, Roanoke, Va., predicted the Iowa-Northwestern tie. . . . Altogether nine fellows called this tie. . . . Ninety per cent of the others went down with Oklahoma, Ohio State and Mississippi. . . . Average card showed five wins, four losses and one tie.

Only two contestants failed to come up with a winner. . . . They were J. M. Brown of Salinas, Kans., and Joe Wentland of South Bend, Ind. . . . Both registered exactly zero. . . . So it's the doghouse for you, gents, but since you've got to spend the winter there, we'll order the dunce caps fur lined. . . . And now—contest adjourned, and we don't mean maybe!

Rumor factory: Luke Hamlin, the only Brooklyn pitcher to win 20 games this year, is on the W. K. block. . . . If Major John L. Griffith's health forces him to retire as Big Ten commissioner, Frank McCormick, Minnesota athletic director, will be next in line. . . . Jockey Mack Garner's son, Mack, Jr., is playing football on a high school team at Covington, Ky. . . . Since the kid weighs 142 he isn't apt to follow in his pop's bootsteps. . . . Hugh M'Guinn of Phoenix, Ariz., wants to know why it wouldn't be a good idea to have a post-season game between the Associated Press all-America and the Little all-America to be played in the all-American bowl.

And while you're about it, why not pit the Washington Redskins vs. the Sing Sing prison team? Then you'd have the pros and cons of football.

Which is just where we came in.

GOOD WILL GROUP OF DEMON GRIDMEN TO VISIT MONROE

Four members of the undefeated and untied Louisiana State Normal college football team will come here tomorrow afternoon with Coach Harry "Rags" Turpin for an appearance at Ouachita Parish High school and also before the Y's Men's club, it was announced last night by Coach Woodrow W. Turner of Ouachita, who is an alumnus of Louisiana Normal.

Two of the young men coming here on the "good will" visit will be F. C. Eason and John Renwick, Monroe boys, who are members of the undefeated Demon aggregation and also Normal seniors. Eason, a guard, and Renwick, an end, were members of the Ouachita Parish High school eleven five and six years ago.

The other members of the Normal delegation will be Roland Migues, stellar back, and Edmund Saucier, guard.

The group will appear in the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock with motion pictures of the Normal-Louisiana college and Normal-Louisiana Tech games this year as a feature attraction. Coach Turpin is also slated for a speech.

Coach Turner said all high school athletes from this part of the state were invited to be present.

At 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night the Normal athletes and Coach Turpin will be guests of the Y's Men's club at their regular meeting. Motion pictures will also be shown before the Y's Men.

In addition to Eason and Renwick, two other former Ouachita Parish High school athletes are playing football at Normal. They are Sol Mayer, member of the varsity squad, who will be unable to come here; and Albert Gerson, members of the Normal freshman team.

COLD KEEPS FOXX FROM VOLUNTEERS' PRACTICE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Bob Foxx was out of the lineup with a cold as the University of Tennessee Vols went through a workout against Kentucky plays Monday afternoon.

Billie Barnes replaced the ailing Foxx in the backfield. Coach Neyland also sent his players through some offensive drills.

NEVILLE PREPS FOR TILT WITH HODGE ELEVEN

Neville Starts Work For Final Battle With Two Regulars Ill

With two members of his starting lineup ill, Coach Percy Brown yesterday started work on his Neville High school Tigers to get them ready for their final appearance of the season Saturday against the strong Jonesboro-Hodge Bengals in a feature attraction of the pre-Christmas festival being sponsored by the retail merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The game will be played at Brown field, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Carlton McKeithen, regular guard, who was out of the lineup last week because of illness, is still absent from the squad as the result of an attack of influenza; and Russell Simpson, stellar end, became ill with "flu" following the Rayville game.

R. C. "Red" Rivers and Jasper Haddad, ailing backs, are expected to be available for duty in a big way, however. Injuries prevented both from doing much against Rayville last week, although Rivers was able to start the locals on their victory march against the Hornets with the first touchdown. Billy Resor, tackle, is also back for service after recovery from an infection.

Jonesboro-Hodge, coached by "Sonny" Maroney, former member of the old Monroe Tigers of several years back, has a strong team that last week polished off Ruston's Bearcats, 13 to 6. The Bearcats had previously beaten Neville, 12 to 0, in a game in which Neville fumbled away victory chances.

Fred Clay, back, and Ralph Poole, center, are the only veterans of the 1938 team back on the Jonesboro-Hodge eleven, but the Jackson parish Tigers have two other stellar ball carriers in Jack Boddie and Dean McBride and, in addition to Poole, a pair of exceptionally good linemen in Buck Anders, tackle, and Theo Shively, guard.

Jonesboro-Hodge, which lost a 7-to-6 battle to Ouachita of Monroe in the last minute of play nearly a month ago, will prove plenty tough for the Neville team to hold.

With the crowd of out-of-town visitors expected here for the Christmas festival and the added spectacle of a massed array of 16 high school bands from over this territory in attendance, the largest crowd of the season to see a high school game here is expected.

Yesterday the locals went through a long signal drill with work on passing and punting added. There was no rough work yesterday and none is expected today, although the Neville squad will get a big helping of blocking and tackling practice along with this afternoon's work. A long signal drill and a short scrimmage is [illegible] on tap for today.

TECH BULLDOGS SHUN INJURIES

Hard Workouts Barred As Ruston Squad Preps For Game With Gents

RUSTON, La., Nov. 28.—(Special)—Taking no chances on injuring his gridders, Coach Ray E. Davis of Louisiana Tech has barred scrimmages and hard workouts this week to keep the Bulldogs in as good physical condition as possible for the game with the Centenary college Gents at Ruston Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Quarterback Ora Merriott, hurt in the Bulldogs' clash with the Texas College of Mines at El Paso on November 18, continues lame with his knee injury, but most of the other Techmen are reported in satisfactory shape.

Following the battle with the Miners, the Techsters were at ease until last Thursday morning, when drills were resumed for the Centenary encounter. A hard scrimmage Saturday wound up last week's rehearsals.

In their workouts this week, the Techsters are practicing all plays in their category but so far no new tricks have been pulled from the bag for the Centenary scrap. Despite their underdog feeling, the Techmen are giving serious attention to their work and hope to give the Gents a hard battle.

The Bulldogs get some consolation from perusing the current S. I. A. A. standings, which rate the Techmen at present above three of their Louisiana conference opponents, namely Centenary, Southwestern Louisiana institute and Louisiana college. In the state, the Normal Demons head the entire 33 teams in the S. I. A. A., with six victories and no defeats. Tech rates second among the Louisiana teams in the conference, with three victories and three losses. Southwestern is third, Louisiana college fourth, and Centenary fifth in the Louisiana group in the S. I. A. A.

NILE KINNICK TOP MAN ON ALL-BIG 10 CONFERENCE ELEVEN

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Nile Clark Kinnick, Jr., superb triple-threat back and spark of the Iowa eleven, was the Western conference's outstanding individual player of the season and you have the Big Ten coaches' word for it.

Kinnick, cast in an "iron-man" role on Iowa's undermanned eleven, was the only unanimous selection of the coaches on the annual Associated Press all-conference team.

Of the five players making the all-star team a year ago who were still in competition, only two repeated on the first team. Edwin Prasse, Iowa end, was picked for an end spot and Tommy Harmon, Michigan ace, for the halfback opposite Kinnick.

Forest Evashevski, Michigan's blocking back who was hampered by injuries, dropped to the second team and John Murray, Wisconsin center, and Lou Brock, Purdue back, the other two all-stars of 1938, were given honorable mention.

In the backfield with Kinnick and Harmon the coaches placed Don Scott, Ohio State's big quarterback, and George Paskvan, Wisconsin's pile-driving fullback.

Esco Sarkkinen, versatile Ohio State end, won the other flank post. The tackle spots went to Win Pedersen, Minnesota stalwart, and Jim Reeder of Illinois. The coaches named Hal Method of Northwestern and Vic Marino of Ohio State at guards.

John Haman of Northwestern, second team center a year ago, was promoted to the first team for his consistently brilliant work.

It might interest you to know that the perfect safety pin was first advertised fifty years ago.
And now believe it or not,
Rhymes are made by used car men
To get buyers on the lot.
But you can take it from me, aint none of these here auto peddlers goin' to sell ye no car for a song an let you sing it. Ye haf to pay de fiddler if ye wants music, so I still sez,
If wisdoms way you'd wisely learn
Five things observe with care
Of whom you buy, to whom you pay
And how and when and where.
Come and see me at the USED CAR EXCHANGE. Plenty good used cars from $75 to $700. We buy, sell or trade. Got "Tailor Made Terms" too. We can fix de notes any way we wants to —If de finance company don't want em, we keeps em.

TWO GIRLS WIN HOLLYWOOD FAME

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28.—(AP)—A Minneapolis miss who won't be 15 until next month and a Texas girl who, spurned by studios, went to New York and sang "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" until they heard her way out here have achieved something of a sensation.

They made their film debuts last night in "The Great Victor Herbert."

Susanna Foster, 14, and blonde, achieved B flat above high C in her climactic song. That's quite an accomplishment. But she wasn't on hand to hear it or the crashing applause from a star-studded premiere audience. She was at home in bed with bronchitis.

Mary Martin finally achieved the acclaim she sought so unsuccessfully a year and more ago. When first she came here, Hollywood showed complete [illegible].

WANTS WIFE WITH QUALIFICATIONS

PARIS, Tex., Nov. 28.—(AP)—A Chicota farmer told a newspaperman he was looking for a wife.

"The woman I am looking for," he said, "ought to have a boy old enough to be a CCC enrollee. She should have a job in a sewing room and be old enough to draw a pension.
